PROVIDERS

The health care industry continues a shift to value-based care in pursuit of better outcomes, cost efficiency and improved consumer experience.

CONSUMERS

One of the most important elements of success during this period of transition will be expanding collaboration across all health care industry stakeholders.

Executives and professionals responsible for running the business of health care in these organizations serve the industry differently, but face similar challenges.

Optum® Forum offers a unique, once-a-year opportunity for executives, managers and thought leaders from across health care to collaborate on the industry's hottest topics.

PREDICTIVE AND ACTIONABLE INSIGHTS

FROM BETTER INTEGRATION OF DATA AND TECHNOLOGY

The health system has a significant amount of information, but it often goes untapped due to disparate systems or capabilities that exist to only assess retroactively. However, there are many examples where data is being used today to proactively target care and drive improvements in outcomes.
