

MACRA considerations vary by market

It's important to understand the local payer mix, patient populations and the maturity of value-based care in each market.

