

Managed Transplant Program

Fully insured coverage for transplants

Stop loss

Transplant costs can be extremely unpredictable for employers. The average billed cost for a transplant episode is $598,143, but depending on the circumstances, it can rise to $1 million or more.¹ Optum® manages the clinical and financial aspects of your transplant cases through our fully insured transplant “carveout” product: The Managed Transplant Program* (MTP). We can help advance your strategy for controlling costs, mitigating risk and improving patient outcomes.

Stop Loss in conjunction with the Managed Transplant Program

When purchasing Stop Loss in conjunction with MTP, the premiums for MTP are offset by reductions in the specific premium and aggregate factors. As the specific deductible increases, the reduction is more heavily weighted toward the aggregate factors. A full offset of the MTP premium will be realized with the purchase of both specific and aggregate coverage.
